DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 31 – 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

In base claim 31, the base claim process result is merely the adapting of a data process, which does not constitute a real/concrete/tangible result as called for by the statute, see PTO Interim guidelines promulgated 11/22/05.

Dependent claim 32 inherits the defect.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 31 – 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jeong (US6658141, of record) insofar as Jeong suggests application of an adaptive grating lobe suppression technique in association with axial filter processing (beamforming operations including focusing along a steering angle) .
